

Flood Assistance for Businesses?

The New Hampshire Division of Economic Development, in coordination with local economic development organizations, is currently seeking to determine the number of companies which have been affected as well as the extent of the damage.

Over the past few days, the economic development team has been speaking with city and town officials as well as its resource partners to determine the magnitude of the problem as well as to develop an action plan to aid all businesses requiring assistance. However, there is still much work to be done and the key to a successful response can be summed up in one word - communication.

To that end, please let the Division of Economic Development know if your business has been affected or if you know of other businesses in the area which can use help. In both cases, please call the Division's toll-free hotline at 1-800-417-4110 or send them an email at lshearn@dred.state.nh.us.
